New South Wales Central Monitoring Licence (CMS).

We are pleased to share the New South Wales Government announcement that Tatts Group's Maxgaming is the selected licensee for the next Central Monitoring Licence (CMS).

The new licence starts from 1 December 2017 and provides Maxgaming with the exclusive right to monitor all club and hotel gaming machines in New South Wales—Australia's largest gaming market until 2032.

We are very happy to be a part of this next phase of the NSW gaming market. There are many stakeholders and partners crucial to this industry, and we will be working closely with everyone to ensure the successful transition of the whole market.

There is a significant amount of work to do over the next two years as we prepare to take on the new licence, and we see this as an opportunity to bring greater benefit to clubs, hotels and the regulator.

While we are excited about the new licence and already planning for the next phase, we remain focused on ensuring our current work, systems and infrastructure continue to deliver for all stakeholders.

We'll be communicating directly with each partner shortly to outline our plans and ensure we deliver the best outcome for the venues and patrons of New South Wales.

We look forward to collaborating with our industry partners in this significant opportunity.
